Granite

A close-up photograph of a dark, textured granite surface. The surface is primarily black with numerous small, irregular blue and greyish-white spots and veins. The lighting creates a slightly glossy effect, highlighting the natural grain and mineral inclusions of the stone.

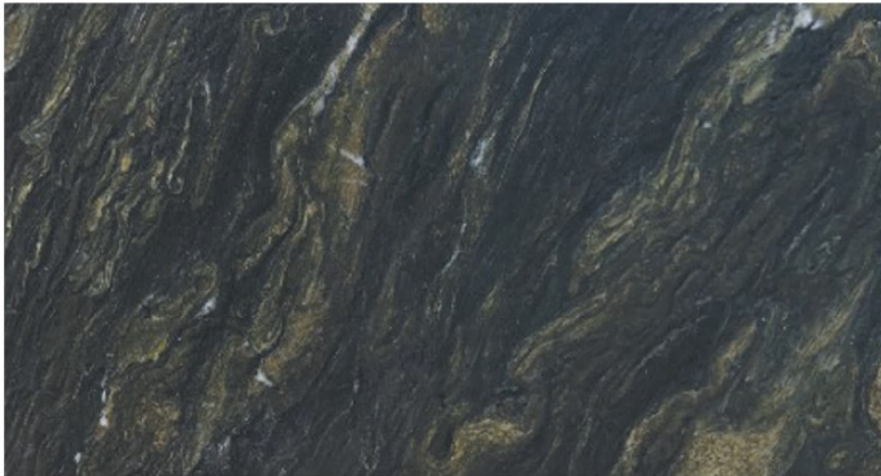

Project

A low-angle photograph of a modern building's exterior. The facade features a combination of materials: dark, speckled granite panels, light-colored stone or concrete panels with vertical grooves, and large glass windows. The building is set against a clear blue sky, with some green leaves visible in the upper left corner.
